TOWN SENDS ITS VETERANS HERE

Brockton, Mass., Gives the Members of its Grand Army Post a Free Trip to Gettysburg, Harper's Ferry and Washington.

Coming as the guests of the town of Brockton, Massachusetts, a party of one hundred and thirty eight, veterans and their friends, arrived in Gettysburg on Thursday evening to remain here until Sunday. The veterans are all members of Fletcher-Webster Post 138, G. A. R., and are wearing the blue with campaign hat.

The party left Brockton on last Wednesday and went to New York for a day's stay there. They arrived in Gettysburg in time for supper on Thursday and are all quartered at the Eagle Hotel. This morning a group picture was taken on the steps of College Church and the days here will be used in various tours of the battlefield.

After breakfast on Sunday morning they leave by their special train for Harper's Ferry and from there go to Washington. On their return trip they will stop in Philadelphia and get back to their home town on Wednesday.

The tour of such a large party of veterans is most unusual. All the necessary expenses are provided by the citizens of Brockton and the outing is entirely complimentary to the Civil War "boys in blue." All of them are wearing Army badges and a number are also wearing little leather shoes, advertising one of the chief industries of the city which they represent.

START WORK ON PARISH HOUSE

New Structure in Course of Construction at Rear of the Memorial Church of the Prince of Peace For Various Purposes.

Work at the erection of a parish house in the rear of the Memorial Church of the Prince of Peace has been started and the building will eventually be two stories in height and will have a stone front to correspond with the church. For the present it will only be a one store structure and will have a brick front, set back some little distance from the building line.

It will contain three rooms, one of which will be large and for use for entertainments, meetings of the Guild, and possibly for the Sunday School. There will be another room for the choir and a third for use as a kitchen and similar purposes.

Later a second story will be added and the building will be quite an ornament to that part of town and a beautiful addition to the present handsome church structure.

The first money for the parish house was donated by Mrs. Phillips, of Baltimore, widow of the first rector of the church, who was here about thirty five years ago. The remainder of the money was secured from outside sources.

George Weikert has the contract for the building and John H. Crowe, of this place, is the architect.

MAY ABANDON GRAEFFENBURG INN

Some years ago when the state under its forestry laws began the accumulation of timber land, the Graeffenburg Inn, as part of the Caledonia tract, passed into state ownership. Once purchased state land cannot be sold, that is a title of sale cannot be executed under existing statutes. The State Forestry Commission has now under consideration three schemes: 1, the closing of the inn as a public house; 2, an effort to obtain additional legislation by which a long time lease may be given to lessee; 3, or a modernizing of the house so as to give to guests wider accommodations and better conveniences.

Commissioner Conklin and Miss Mira Lloyd Dock, S. B. Elliott, of Reynoldsville and J. Linn Harris, of Bellefonte, members of the Forestry Commission, have just visited the inn and are now contemplating its improvement or abandonment.

The inn is not a paying investment for the state as it now stands. But it is a part of the life of the community and a convenience to many tourists.

As it stands now, the inn has to turn down more guests than it accepts because of lack of accommodations.

DANGER IN CARTRIDGES

Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, state game commissioner, while in Waynesboro this week endeavored to arouse the citizens to the danger involved in the use of high power cartridges. Some of the cartridges were used in that vicinity during last deer season. The projectile is long and is driven with such force that it will kill a man at a distance of five miles.

Hunters using them can't tell where they will land, or what they will hit. Wounded and dead deer were found in the mountains last year, slain by these projectiles without the knowledge of the man who fired the shot.

The use of this ammunition makes it dangerous for other hunters to be in the mountains where these projectiles are a menace to the lives of inhabitants five miles away. Dr. Kalbfus desires that the people shall demand the prohibition of their use.

FAUST A SUCCESS

Faust was well presented before a medium sized house in the Wizard Theatre on Thursday evening and those who care for that sort of attraction were well pleased. The scenic effects were more elaborate than any attempted on the local stage for some years.

MARRIED A YEAR, CHOKES HIS WIFE

Norman Warner, of Conewago Township, Married Less than a Year, Held for Court on Charges of Cruelty to his Wife.

Norman Warner, of Conewago township, was arrested on Wednesday by Constable John L. Dougherty, of McSherrystown, on a warrant issued by Justice V. H. Lilly, of that place, on oath of Estella Warner, his wife, charging him with assault and battery.

The hearing was held before Justice Lilly 'Squire L. D. Sell, of Hanover, represented the Commonwealth and 'Squire Charles Mayers, of Littlestown the defendant.

At the hearing it was clearly shown by the evidence that Warner who has not been married a year, was very cruel to his wife, who is a very frail woman. He had at different times choked her and struck her on the head, at last driving her from the house and ordering her to go to her home.

After the hearing Justice Lilly held the defendant under $200 bail for the action of the grand jury at the November term of Adams County court.

One morning this week while Bernard Staub, son of Mrs. Daniel Staub, of near New Oxford, was waiting at the railroad depot in that place for the arrival of friends expected to attend the funeral of Mrs. Eievenour, the young horse he was holding at the auto of J. N. Hersb, and wheeling around ran away. The boy held on to the animal until he reached Pitt street, where he was thrown against the porch of the Schnell house. The animal ran as far as the Hoover machine shops where he was caught. One of the front wheels of the surrey was mashed, which was the only damage to the team. Young Staub, who is about 15 years old, was removed to the office of a physician, where, upon examination, it was found that his injury consisted of a badly wrenched right knee.

ASSERTS PERKINS GAVE $2,000,000

Hilles Says Money Was Used to Nominate Roosevelt.

ARCHBOLD ON THE GRILL

Standard Oil Man Questioned on Letters and Checks Sent to Men Then in Congress.

Washington, Oct. 11.—That George W. Perkins is the Harvester trust, that he contributed approximately $2,000,000 to Roosevelt's fight for the Republican presidential nomination, that he and Herbert Knox Smith, former commissioner of corporations, saved the Harvester trust from prosecution through visiting Roosevelt at Oyster Bay in 1907, was openly charged by Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee, before the Clapp investigating committee.

John D. Archbold declared before the sub-committee probers that certificates of deposit for $15,000, $14,500 and lesser amounts sent by him to the then senator from Ohio, Joseph B. Foraker, were all in payment of legal services given by Foraker for the Standard Oil company in Ohio.

He was positive on this point, but a similar certificate for $1000 sent to former Congressman Grosvenor, he thought, was a contribution to one of Grosvenor's campaign funds.

When the Standard Oil man was confronted with alleged photographic copies of letters to the late Senator Hanna, his memory did not prove so good. He had no recollection of them, he said, although the signature of one, he thought, was that of Mr. Hanna.

He qualified this with the assertion that he was no "handwriting expert." He was quizzed at length on these letters by Senator Clapp without result.

Archbold supposed that he had written several letters to the late Senator Quay, copies of which were shown to him. A certificate of deposit for $10,000 mentioned in one of them, he said, was a political contribution and involved purely a Pennsylvania affair, just what he could not recall. This is the letter containing the statement "Not because we think he should be elected, but because of your enticing ways, we send you $10,000." He also was quizzed about letters to former Congressman Sibley and to the late A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Archbold testified that a receipt the late Cornelius N. Bliss gave him for the company's $100,000 contribution to the Roosevelt campaign fund of 1904 had been destroyed just before the death of H. H. Rogers.

"It was not a thing of pleasure to look at," said Archbold.

Hilles had been summoned to tell what he knew about the pre-convention campaign expenses of President Taft, whose secretary he then was, and to explain published reports that he had accused the Roosevelt forces of having a campaign fund of $3,000,000 or more. John H. Archbold was recalled to tell what papers he might have found bearing on the contribution of $100,000 he said the Standard Oil company had made to the Roosevelt campaign fund of 1904.

BULL KILLS WOMAN IN RED

Infuriated Beast Gores Wealthy Farmer's Wife to Death.

New Castle, Pa., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Elizabeth Young, wife of John Young, a wealthy farmer, attired in a red gingham dress, started across a field in which a bull was grazing.

When half way across the field Mrs. Young saw the animal coming toward her. At the same time her husband shouted a warning.

Reaching a tree, Mrs. Young tried to climb to safety and was swinging a few inches from the ground when the bull reached her, striking her so violently that she was knocked to the ground. Then, before the husband could arrive the animal had gored her in a frightful manner, and she was dead before the infuriated beast could be driven away.

NEGROES ARRESTED FOR ENTICING GIRL

Daughter of Maryland Farmer Lured From Her Home.

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—Kidnapped, it is said, from her home in German town, Md., by Harvey Randolph, colored, whose brother father shot, Lola Devine, a beautiful sixteen-year-old white girl, was found in a squalid room at 1225 Pine street, with Randolph and Mrs. Mary Rich, colored, who is also accused of the abduction.

Randolph and Mary Rich were held without bail by Magistrate Eisenbrenner pending the arrival of agents of the federal department of justice. Miss Devine was placed in the care of the central station matron.

Detective Lynch testified briefly to finding her in the company of the prisoners and declared that the federal authorities were anxious that they be held.

Miss Devine shielded herself as much as possible behind her big white hat, but she occasionally stole glances around the court room to watch the spectators.

Upon the arrival of the federal agents in Philadelphia Randolph and Mary Rich will be taken to Washington for trial.

Two years ago, according to the detectives, a colored man broke into the Devine residence in Maryland. Lola's father came downstairs with a shotgun, saw the intruder and shot him. After spending several months in the hospital the burglar was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. He is said to have been Randolph's brother.

On Sept. 12 Randolph, Mrs. Rich and another colored woman enticed Miss Devine from her home, the detectives say. They went to Washington where the department of justice got upon their track, and then fled to Philadelphia.

Lodgers at the Pine street address say that Randolph and Mrs. Rich explained that Miss Devine was an octopus, to still the wonder of those who saw her. The three kept close to their room, eating, living and sleeping in the one apartment.

The Aqueduct police captured young Gorse, and he was taken to the Midtown asylum.

BRILLIANT RECORD OF PITCHER JOE WOOD

Joe Wood, Idol of Boston Fans.

Fans may sing the praises of Ed Walsh, Walter Johnson, Christy Mathewson, Rube Marquard and other pitchers, but down Boston way New Englanders are taking off their lids to one Joe Wood.

For the edification of anyone who doesn't know full particulars about Joe Wood, take a glance at the standings of the American league. Wood is the man who put Boston on top. He has made a brilliant record as a dispenser of curve balls.

Wood is about the handiest man on Stahl's club. He earns his pay. Success doesn't seem to have turned the head of this quiet and unassuming athlete. He is always ready to help out the good cause. When he isn't actually warming up to pitch he is out playing some position on the team in preliminary practice or warming up one of the extra twirlers.

Wood has seen service in Boston since 1908. He made a hit from the start. His specialty is a perfect drop ball. He developed as a pitcher while attending the University of Kansas. Then he joined the Hutchinson (Kan.) team. That was before he was seventeen years old. He showed great class there and was grabbed up by Kansas City, and from there he went to Boston. Since he has been in Boston he has made good.

Wood said, in answer to a query as to how he mastered the knack of curving a ball: "When I was seven years old I could curve a baseball, and I have never been shown anything about pitching. I suppose baseball is a natural gift, for I have devised and developed every shoot and curve that I use. All through my school days I played ball, and, while often assigned to other positions, I was usually called upon to pitch the important games."

It has often been said that Wood is a trifle too light for a pitcher, but that is not so. He stands 5 feet 11 1/2 inches, and weighs 168 pounds. It is an ideal height and weight for an athlete, especially a pitcher.

In addition to being a master pitcher, Wood is an expert at all-round playing. He fields his position better than almost any other man playing the game, especially when it comes to covering the first bag. Wood's hitting has been an important factor in more than one game which the Red Sox have won.

It is a treat to see Wood go through his preliminary work before a game. He will begin throwing straight with little speed. Then he will work his curves until he has the ball breaking to his satisfaction and finish with speed.

Joe Wood has never been fined or put out of a game by the umpires.

BOSTON HAS CLEVER PLAYER

Steve Yerkes, Star Second Baseman of Champion Red Sox, Helped to Win Another Pennant.

Steve Yerkes, second baseman of the Champion Boston Red Sox, is twenty-four years old. He started playing at Mercerburg, Pa. He was signed by Boston in 1909, but farmed to Worcester. He helped that city win a pennant in the New England league. He rejoined the club as utility player in 1910 and last year played

It is said Garry Hermann wants Bill Sweeney to manage the Reds.

The baseball scouts have now finished their season and will go into winter quarters.

The Athletics are sore over Harry Davis' treatment in Cleveland and do not hesitate to say so.

The York and Harrisburg teams recently played a full nine-inning game in forty-eight minutes.

Mrs. Britton has come out in denial of the reports that she is thinking of trading Roger Bresnahan.

Pitcher Rube Benton of the Cincinnati Reds has the smallest hands of any baseball pitcher in the majors.

Larry Cheney is going to show some of the other pitchers that he can do a few stunts in making records himself.

Something must be wrong. We haven't seen a story about a ball player playing golf for nearly five days.

Eddie Murphy, now with the Athletics, made one-sixth of the runs registered by Baltimore up to the time he went to Philadelphia.

Harry Davis expects to be with Connie Mack next season in some capacity. Davis will in all probability act as scout or coach for the team.

The draft is luck, pure and simple. In other words, it is a real gamble as to whether a manager gets the player he wants when he puts in his request.

In a recent double-header on the coast Roy Corhan, the former Sox infielder, made eight hits in nine times at bat and accepted thirteen chances without an error.

There are pitchers and pitchers, but for fantastic floats and infinite variety among dry ball pitchers, commend us to Kueker. And part of Nap's rise is due to his drop.

President Comiskey put in a draft for Pitcher Wolding of the St. Joseph team. Callahan found that he had room enough for the youngster and wants to give him a trial.

Man's Face.
Parisians are concerned about the question of wearing mustaches and beards, the tendency being to part with these long-honored ornaments.

IDENTIFIES THE THREE GUNMEN

Walter Recognizes Slayers of Rosenthal

DRAMATIC SCENE IN COURT

Picks Out "Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louie" and Whitey Lewis as Men Who Did the Shooting.

New York, Oct. 11.—The trial of Lieutenant Charles Becker was distinguished by Lewis Krause's identification at the bar of the court of Gyp the Blood Horowitz, Lefty Louie Rosenberg and Whitey Lewis (Frank Muller) as three of the four men who shot Herman Rosenthal dead in the doorway of the Hotel Metropole.

Dago Frank Cirofici he was not sure about, but he pointed to Jack Sullivan as the man who bent over Rosenthal's body and who then turned with a laugh to the murderers.

The identifications were made under the most dramatic circumstances. Krause, who is a waiter, had just testified emphatically and with every appearance of sincerity that despite the threats of roughs gathered in Forty-third street he had stayed and seen the murder and had seen Bridge Webber running toward Broadway. District Attorney Whitman gave his witness a chance to demonstrate the accuracy of his memory.

Justice Goff directed that the four gunmen and Jack Sullivan, linked with Lieutenant Becker as accused murderers, be brought from the Tombs. They entered laughing or sneering, according to their manner. Krause left the witness chair, and when called upon to point out Whitey Lewis, unhesitatingly and rapidly touched that gangster on the shoulder. Lewis laughed in his face. He laid his hand on Lefty Louie Rosenberg and kept it there a moment, unperturbed by Rosenberg's black glances. He pointed squarely at Horowitz, who showed his teeth in a smile in which there was no merriment. And then he turned to Jack Sullivan, who fairly shrank away from him.

For two hours John F. McIntyre did his best to wreck Krause's testimony, but failed utterly. The Hungarian replied readily and positively and involved himself in no important contradictions.

So far as the plans of the defense were developed by Mr. McIntyre's cross-examination of Krause it seemed evident that they are fighting not only to clear Becker, but to exculpate the gunmen accused of the actual murder. Some of Mr. McIntyre's questions indicated that the defense will try to show that Rosenthal was shot by Harry Valon, now one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution.

Under rapid headway after the selection of the twelfth juror, the fourth day's session of the trial produced the testimony of six witnesses. The state took the necessary steps in proving the murder by calling Policeman John J. Brady and William J. Eile, Dr. Dennis Taylor, an ambulance surgeon of the Flower hospital; Dr. Otto H. Schultz, the coroner's physician who performed the autopsy on Rosenthal's body, and Jacob Hecht, a waiter in the Hotel Metropole restaurant. Krause, the waiter, the sixth witness, opened the way for the development of the larger features of the trial. He was called to identify the gunmen, so that the state can go ahead with its work of connecting Lieutenant Becker with the crime committed by the gunmen.

AMERICAN MARINES SAVED FROM MINES

Dynamite Guarding Nicaraguan City Fails to Explode.

Washington, Oct. 11.—That hundreds of sailors and marines escaped death in Chinandega, Nicaragua, when the American forces invaded the city, in a remarkable way, is declared in a dispatch received at the navy department from Rear Admiral Southerland.

The plaza was mined with 150 sticks of dynamite, connected by wire with an adjacent tower. In some unaccountable way the charge was not exploded. Had it been exploded the entire force of American marines and sailors would have been killed.

Sailors mounted on horseback, acting as a cavalry company, rounding up small bodies of revolutionists, have been operating thirty miles south of Chinandega. No arrests have yet been made.

Admiral Southerland reports that capable municipal officers have been temporarily appointed to administer the affairs of Leon until President Diaz makes designations. The American wounded there will be sent to the Ancon hospital aboard the Colorado.

In spite of terrific efforts to free himself, Anderson was slowly drawn down and was nearly suffocated when rescued by four employees of the Standard Oil company's refinery at Wood river. He was on his way to meet a Mississippi river steamboat to ask the captain for work.

GIANTS DEFEAT BOSTON, 2 TO 1

Red Sox Fail to Score Until Ninth Inning.

MADE DESPERATE RALLY

Marquard, of New York, and O'Brien, of Boston, Both Pitched Champion Ship Ball.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS. Won. Lost. P. C. Boston..... 1 1 500 New York..... 1 1 500

Boston, Oct. 11.—Again the Giants and Red Sox had it out tooth and nail for the laurel wreath of base ball, and this time the Giants won. The score was 2 to 1, and then they won by a squeak so narrow that everything depended on the last ball hit.

Somewhat different in complexion from the first two games was this contest. The rivals settled down to base ball which was of smoother texture and more natural in its pace. Yet the game lacked nothing in intensity. It was in keeping with its fellows in being crammed to the full with uncertainty. The Giants ran up a score of two and turned the Red Sox back baffled and scoreless for eight consecutive innings. In the last two innings, however, the Red Sox attack quickened a bit, and their aggressiveness resulted in preventing a whitewash.

A miff by Merkle was the only fissure in the New York holding, it coming in the ninth inning after the Red Sox had made their hermit run. It cost nothing, but it did create a perilous situation and there was a furor of excitement in the stands until Devore, with a superb running catch of a line drive so hard that it was almost invisible, brought the game to an end, with two base runners bound licket split for the home plate. This ninth was a roaring inning. Marquard was in dire straits toward the last, but all told the master of the Red Sox.

It wasn't all his fault that he was in trouble in the ninth, although he appeared to be losing his grip. The error by Merkle made things worse for him, but he was plucky even then and for the greater part of the game cool and deliberate. The fast pop ball which has made Marquard famous and formidable was on show and greatly perplexed the Red Sox. In the closing innings the Rubie had to listen to a storm of yelling by the home rooters, but he remained impervious, yielding to the din only in the ninth, when he and the team were saved by Devore's comely catch.

The Giants, too, faced pitching that was new to them. They were strangers to O'Brien, just as the Red Sox knew naught of Marquard save by reputation and observation. The New Yorkers didn't make any great indentations in O'Brien's pitching, but they did take more readily to his spitball than the enemy did to Marquard's offerings.

The fielding was, barring Merkle's fall from grace, stainless and snappy, and with a blend of the sensational, Gardner and Lewis made most of the trouble for the New Yorkers with the stick, whereas Murray and Herzog, who have rendered valuable service in every game, were again New York's mainstay with the ash.

London, Oct. 11.—Heavy losses were inflicted by the Turkish troops on a band of Greeks numbering 1000 men, who attacked a Turkish frontier post near Dhisikata.

The Greeks were driven back over the frontier, according to a dispatch from Saloniki.

T. R. ELECTORS QUIT; TAFT TICKET NAMED

Roosevelt Leaders Present Withdrawals at Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 11.—The electoral muddle in Pennsylvania was adjusted when twenty-seven presidential electors, who are for Roosevelt, withdrew from the Republican ticket and the Republican state committee assembled to fill their places with twenty-seven Taft men.

At the same time it was agreed that the Lincoln party ticket set up by the regular Republicans against the Roosevelt people should be withdrawn as soon as the state committee had acted, thus removing all complications and insuring a straight fight between the Taft and Roosevelt forces.

The prothonotary of Dauphin county and the chief clerk of the state department gave William Flinn a certificate to the effect that no objections to the Washington party nomination papers were on file in their offices. With Mr. Flinn at the time were Chairman Wasieleski, English and Paul S. Acker.

They later conferred with Secretary Witig regarding the withdrawal of the Lincoln party nomination papers.

DEATH PARTS JOINED TWINS

Christine Not Expected to Survive Her Sister Millie For Long.

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 11.—Death claimed Millie, one of the famous Millie-Christine twins. Christine still lives, but her death is expected to follow in a few days.

They could talk to themselves or could carry on conversations with others at the same time. While one was asleep the other could be awake, but as a rule they went to sleep at the same time.

Born in slavery times, the women who were colored, were sold for $40,000 to be used for exhibition purposes. They were stolen from their owner in Philadelphia a few years later and taken to Europe, where they were found some years afterward.

CHILD HAD ECZEMA

Mother Says Saxo Salve Made Her Well.

"My little girl suffered with eczema on her hands for nearly a year and, reading about Saxo Salve one day, I bought a tube and found it helped her. After using two tubes my baby's hands are entirely well." Mrs. E. P. Hook, 224 E. 17th street, Connersville, Ind.

In all forms of eczema, and all other crusty or scaly humors and eruptions, Saxo Salve alleviates the itching at once, and penetrates the pores of the skin, reaching the very roots of the disease with its germ destroying, healing power and soon banishes the eruptions, leaving the skin smooth and unscarred.

We sell Saxo Salve on a positive guarantee for all sorts of skin affections. If it does not give satisfaction you get your money back. Try it. The People's Drug Store, Baltimore Street, Gettysburg, Pa.—advertisement.

SCHOOL REPORT

Following is the report of Grayson's school, Liberty township, for the month ending September 27. Number enrolled 47; average attendance 38; per cent. of attendance 88. Those who attended every day during the month were: Harriet Harbaugh, Marguerite Bell, Goyda Stine, Julia Topper, Mabel Maxwell, Luella Riley, Belva Riley, Albert Maxwell, Ellis Maxwell, Gilson Creps, Robert Stine, and Fremont Riley. Gertrude Topper, David Creps, Lester Creps and Leroy Wagaman missed one day. Ralph Dubel, teacher.

On His Guard.

Two richly upholstered dames sat on the hotel veranda and watched the wild waves dancing the turkey trot. "That young man yonder is reputed to be very rich," said one. "He is hopeless, however," declared the other. "No girl will catch him." "Why do you say that?" "I told him yesterday that your daughter looked sweet enough to eat and he responded hastily that he was a strict vegetarian."

Jarred the Butcher.

An affable looking stranger was strolling by. "Would you like to see a piece of nice porthouse?" "I certainly should." "Here is a fine piece. How much do you wish?" "Oh, I couldn't afford to buy any," said the affable stranger. "You invited me to look, and I am always glad to inspect rare curios."

Permanencies.

"What's the zebra sulking about?" asked the head keeper of the menagerie. "He feels slighted. He's about the only quadruped that hasn't been mentioned as some sort of a political emblem."

GAVE HER AWAY.

Little Boy (coming up steps)—Go in—mamma will be down presently. I'll tell her you're here. Visitor—The maid said your mother wasn't in. Little Boy—Gee! There's a licking comin' to me.

Can't Tell.

She said, "I'll have my hat on in just a minute, yet." He said that Monday morning—He may be waiting yet.

REACTION SEEMS NOT LIKELY

Styles of Summer Finery Bid Fair to Be Extended for the Autumn and Winter.

Now the tide of homeward travel brings the summer girl and her sisters and her cousins and her aunts back to Fifth avenue. The daily march of fashion will be resumed and the metropolis will speedily learn what its most adored citizens will wear. Much has been said of the imminent return to wide and voluminous garments within which the female form divine will rattle around like a dried peanut within its too ample shell. Reactions come in fashions as in other things, and one seems to be due in this matter.

But in the summer just approaching its close the maidens of Athens walked in the cool of the evening in the Place de la Constitution clad in gowns which revealed the sculptural lines of their classic figures better than the magical draperies of Phidias disclose those of the stone beauties in the National museum. In Trieste the girls wore skirts which gripped their limbs like vases. In Milan some damozels strode across the Piazza del Duomo with slashes in their skirts more than knee high, and stockings—naturally there were stockings. In Venice the pigeons of St. Mark's square—but why go further?

What did they wear in Paris? That is the only question. In answering it one must not forget that in the summer "gay Paris" is mostly out of town. But just before the middle of August it was plain that not a few real Parisians were in the city. And neither in what they wore nor in the displays of the great shops was there any positive evidence that woman-kind intended to make an immediate return to the concealment of its figure.—New York Sun.

NIGHTGOWN.

This is cut with a round neck trimmed with insertion and lace; below this tucks are made in groups and stitched to bust; the sleeves are elbow length and set to insertion boards, to which lace frills are attached. Materials required: 5 yards 36 inches wide, 1 1/4 yard insertion, 1 yard narrow and 1 yard wide lace.

TOILET TABLE.

Eye strain is largely a defect of civilization. Children should be encouraged to use their eyes at long range as often as possible.

Those who are inclined to suffer from rheumatism should try the effect of drinking half a glass of water with the juice of half a lemon squeezed into it every morning instead of the early morning cup of tea.

To purify the blood try the old-fashioned remedy of sulphur and molasses, a teaspoonful of sulphur to two tablespoonfuls of molasses every other morning for nine mornings; skip three mornings and take again for nine mornings.

If the curling iron seems injurious to the hair, use the "pinching iron" instead; the curl may be wrapped between or on a bit of paper and protected from the iron. Hold the paper between the two hemispheres of the pinchers for a few moments.

The lines on the forehead are caused by perpetually raising the eyebrows, and no permanent help can be had until the habit is in some measure conquered. The lines should be massaged across the lines and with a rotary movement outward toward the temples.

For Holland Material.

Hay water is splendid to use when washing brown Holland material or for the tinting of laces, but when employed the solution should be concentrated. Place a good handful of hay seed or a small quantity of hay into a saucepan and cover them with a quart of water. Bring the water to boiling point and simmer the solution until it becomes dark in color. Strain it and it is ready for use.

Four ounces of sulphate of potassium to a gallon of water makes a good solution for killing lice on horses. Benzine is also beneficial. Both applications should be rubbed in twice, a week apart, in order to do the work thoroughly.

Box stalls are safer for fattening horses in than single stalls, but the difference in cost is hardly worth while, for with ordinary care horses can be fattened to just as good advantage when tied in single stalls as when confined in box stalls.

SETTING HIM RIGHT.

Two brothers were being entertained by a manufacturer who was anxious to make a good impression and thereby place a large order of his goods. As ill luck would have it, the talk drifted away from trade topics. "Do you like Omar Khayyam?" thoughtlessly asked the host, trying to make conversation. It was the elder brother who plunged heroically into the breach.

"Pretty well," he said, "but I prefer Chianti."

Nothing more was said on this subject until the brothers were on their way home.

"Bill," said the younger brother, breaking a painful silence, "why can't you leave things that you don't understand to me? Omar Khayyam ain't a wine, you chump; it's a cheese."

Ephraim's Religion.

"Parson," exclaimed Ephraim, "Tae got 'ligion—'ligion, I tell you!"

"That's fine, brother! You are going to lay aside all sin?"

"Yes, sah."

"You are going to church?"

"Yes, sah-ree."

"You are going to care for the widows?"

"Ah, yes, sah."

"Are you going to pay your debts?"

"Sah? Dat ain't 'ligion; dat's business."—Judge.

THE ONES HE BACKED.

Railroad Conductor (of train from race track)—Which horses won today? Unlucky Bettor—Can't tell you the names of the horses that won, but I can tell you the names of the horses that lost.

Discouraging.

"Tis very sad—excuse these sighs—To find a maiden wondrous sweet, Who thus, when you propose, replies, 'Poor boy, you're crazy with the heat.'"

A box of ashes under a clump of shrubbery will be greatly appreciated by the hens in warm weather.

It is as impossible to estimate the productiveness and value of a cow as it is to guess the exact number of bushels of corn a certain field will yield.

Pigs relish potatoes.

Cut back climbing roses.

Care for the farrowing sow.

Treat the young helpers gently.

Groom your horses well and prevent skin diseases.

The dairyman can raise hogs cheaper than any one else.

Old and many young trees are infested with the woolly aphids.

Keeping the fingernails cut may save both milk and mortification.

Kerosene emulsion will kill plant lice more effectively than hellebore.
